

Welcome to the fashionable world where safety meets art!

Care and Maintenance of Your Hawaiian Safety Shirt

Longevity of your garment depends on the conditions in which you work (and play, for that matter). So any warranty is null and void once you show off to others, as they may pick on you and at you, until they find out that they actually want one of their own.

Any washing should be done by native girls, by hand, in a light soapy solution as befits a tropical tuxedo and wet t-shirts, and then hung out to dry, naturally in the sun. In other words- do not resort to mechanized devicing of any sort, lest you enter the modern world, unnecessarily, and in bad form.

You have chosen wisely. Thank you for your bravado, pioneering spirit, and just general boldness. May it serve you well.

You may need it.

Feel free to leave me feedback via The Coconut Telegraph on the web site or: huff@hawaiiansafetyshirt.com

Mahalo, Huff

